Making Change Work: A People-Centered Approach

New systems. New processes. New expectations. Change is inevitable, but how we lead it matters. Explore UW-Madison's new change leadership framework, discuss practical strategies for helping people adapt, and leave with ideas you can apply immediately with your teams and in your work.

About the speaker

As a Capacity Building Lead in UW-Madison's Office of Strategic Consulting, Jenny Erickson brings more than 20 years of experience helping organizations navigate change, strengthen performance, and build healthy workplace cultures.
